1. It is alleged that the minister-presidents of the Soviet Zone, before going to Munich, were instructed at Karlshorst by Beria and Georgiev that Molotov desired them to attend the Munich conference but to provoke a dispute there. They said that the Russians were not interested in the conference but actually preferred to see it fail.
2. Beria, Georgiev, and Sokolovski flew to Moscow on 13 June 1947 and then returned about 18 June. Stalin is said to have decided that Molotov's policy was too inflexible.
3. A new political line is to be announced in Karlshorst by Beria and Georgiev.
